

The Steamboat Weekly Guide

By Ron Ferenczi, TBird

Soon the T-Birds will be headed to Steamboat with Jim Michon as our teacher and guide, he has prepared a jam-packed week of excitement for all to ski its slopes by his side.

On Saturday we arrive at the Phoenix to unpack and settle in, how I can't wait to get my tickets at the Slopeside Grill and have some gin.

On Sunday we have our official Mountain Tour at the top of the Vagabond Trail, with a late night Welcome Reception party the beer and wine will tell the tale.

On Monday we head to the slopes with fresh powder up to our knees, was that Billy Kidd I saw skiing with a pack of kids who swarmed around him like a pack of busy bees.

On Tuesday we practice then race the NASTAR gates for the glory and all of the bragging rights they say, while catching our breath as we skied very hard it was a test of valor on that fateful day.

On Wednesday should we go to the Hot Springs to soak our sore tired legs and relax with our friends, or should we eat dinner at the Ore House at Pine Grove selecting some tasty choice ribs will set a new trend.

On Thursday we have a Scavenger Hunt and pose for our group photo with Rick Drew, capped off with an evening at the Tugboat Bar and Grill sampling its delights with a tall, cold brew.

On Friday we end our exciting week with a unique dining experience of Western BBQ, mouth watering prime ribs will be our lasting delight a memorable experience will be quite the sight.

And so we turn to our last days of skiing, Saturday will mark the end of our adventure, so we bid Steamboat good-bye and farewell we all will love you so much forever.
